MRS HILLER

Had Morphia and Chloral as a Bride.

Dr D. P. Buzzell Testifies to Her Hysterics.

Hearing on Her Alleged Will of April 21, 1900, Fought by Her Daughter, Lucy Hill, and Yale University — Several Previous Testaments.

The executrix of Mrs Frances B. Hiller of Wilmington, who died May 31, were thoroughly aired in the Middlesex probate court in Cambridge today before Judge McIntire, this morning when the contest occasioned by two of her wills was begun.

The death of Dr Henry Hiller, some years ago, and his burial in an enormous casket beautifully carved, the subject of considerable talk at the time, was followed, subsequently, by the discovery that the cunning of his name to that of her first husband, her death and burial in one of the large caskets, are well remembered by all readers of the daily newspapers.

Soon after Mrs Hiller's death a will dated July 1, 1899, was presented for probate, bequeathing $10,000 to Yale College, among other bequests, $2 to Lucy C. Hill of Georgetown, Demerara county, British Guiana, a daughter of her late wife, and $500 each to the Massachusetts homeopathic hospital and the city hospital, Boston, for the establishment of beds to be known as Henry and Frances B. Hiller free beds; the real estate and remainder was given by Francis W. Kittredge, who was named as executor and trustee, in trust, to be invested, one-half of the net income to go to Mrs Hiller's husband, Henry Hiller of Wilmington, during his natural life to be paid over to the said shares to Yale university and the Massachusetts homeopathic hospital.

Witnesses were sworn. Dr Daniel P. Buzzell of Wilmington testified that he had practiced in Wilmington for 15 years. Knew Frances B. Hiller 10 years; had witnessed her signature on the will dated April 21, 1900, in which Henry Hiller was given $10,000 and made the principal beneficiaries. Witness signed as a witness and identified his signature. She was in sound mind, to his opinion.

Cross-examined: The will was discovered when witness signed, as though the signatures of the witnesses on the back of the pages had been torn. Was not sure whether the first page had been torn at that time. The will was witnessed at 11:30 the night of April 21, 1900, in Mrs Hiller's sleeping room.

Mrs Hiller was not living with, going to sign as a witness. Mrs Hiller was going to Dr Hiller 12 for him. Went into the house by the back way. Mrs Carter, Mrs Sarrette, Mrs Hiller and Henry Hiller were in Mrs Hiller's dressing room.

Mrs Hiller was sitting in an easy chair. She said: "Ah, Doctor, it is too bad to get you up so late. I've not been feeling well tonight, and want you to sign my will."

Witness picked up the will and handed it to Mrs Hiller to sign, saying, "Here, here." Mrs Hiller, who was near sighted, said, "No, that is where witnesses

The will provided that, on the death of her husband, the entire principal of the trust should be given, one-half to Yale college and one-half to the homeopathic hospital, and to invest the same and use the net income for purposes of each institution, each fund to be known as the Henry and Frances B. Hiller trust fund.

The second will was dated April 21, 1900, and was witnessed by Dr Buzzell, A. Jerry of Hampshire, Hosted, Miss Mrs Hiller's daughter, were formed as executors and were the principal beneficiaries. Mrs Hill, the daughter in British Guiana, was cut off this time with $2.

Dr Buzzell was then sworn. He was a witness of the court today. Robert A. Jordan appeared for Mr Kittredge, the executor under the will dated July 1, 1899; William H. Drury represented Yale university; Mr Nutter of Brandon, Dunbar & Nutter appeared both in the interests of Mrs Hill of British Guiana, and Judge John G. Maguire and Edwin A. Hill appeared for the will dated April 21, 1900.

The principal feature of the morning's session was the attempt by Mr Nutter to prove that Mrs Hiller was a confirmed morphine taker and was addicted to the use of liquor.

Signing a Will.

Dr Buzzell testified that on the night of last January he was called to Mrs Hiller's house to sign a will. Mrs Hiller was in bed. Mrs Carter, Mrs Sarrette and Henry Hiller were present. Mrs Hiller was sitting up. She was not delirious, but was not herself. She was under the influence of morphine. Witness had given her a hypodermic injection of morphine about 10 o'clock that evening. Witness signed as a witness and identified his signature. She was in sound mind, to his opinion.

Galveston Fast Getting Into Order.

No More Physicians or Nurses Needed.

City Has Water, Light and Telegraph, the Streets are Clearing and Railroad and Bridge Work is Rapid—Getting Names of the Dead.

GALVESTON, Sept 17—Dr Trudeau, chief of the sanitary corps of the U. S. marine hospital service, arrived here this morning and sick, says that there is absolutely no further necessity for trained nurses and physicians.

Now that the water works are running, some of the streets lighted, many of the telegraph wires working, and a fairly prompt communication with the outside world reestablished, the people of Galveston are anxiously looking forward to the reestablishment of railroad communication. The work of relaying the tracks and rebuilding a bridge across the bay is being pushed with great energy. The officials in charge of the work believe that they will be able to run trains into Galveston on Thursday. The work thus far done has been remarkable and has been accomplished under the greatest difficulties. Track was washed away for a mile, the bridge was swept by the sea and washed into Galveston, along a line teetering with dead bodies of men and animals. The men worked under a blazing sun in water and slush and mud, in surroundings sickening to the senses and at first overwhelming to the spirits, but in the greatest difficulties in the way of getting material for the work to the places where it is needed they have been encouraged.

Notwithstanding these difficulties, the work has gone on day and night, and the structure that links the island western in rail connection with the outside world is rapidly being pushed forward toward the stricken city, which is so rapidly and marvelously recuperating. The Santa Fe system has reconstructed nearly all its boat bridge and track now lies on the west side of Galveston bay, connecting with Galveston. Texas Free R. R. Hutchinson, general manager of the road, has been at work, and has 600 track men and 300 bridgemen engaged in the work. The track was completed to Virginia Point at 10:30 last night.

State health officer Blount left here yesterday for Austin, where he will confer with the governor concerning the conditions in Galveston. It is said that this statement will estimate the mortality at 900 persons.

Miss Clara Barton of the Red Cross society arrived here today, accompanied by a hospital corps and supplies. She will reach Galveston today.

Horse cars are in operation in the business part of the city and the electric light service and water have been partially restored. The remaining portion of the city will be lighted by the electric light plant tonight, but cedar and spruce will be used for legal purposes and for life insurance purposes only. Not a drop of liquor was stationed at the headquarters of the relief committee in receiver under the will dated July 1, 1899; William H. Drury represented Yale university; Mr Nutter of Brandon, Dunbar & Nutter appeared both in the interests of Mrs Hill of British Guiana, and Judge John G. Maguire and Edwin A. Hill appeared for the will dated April 21, 1900.

The principal feature of the morning's session was the attempt by Mr Nutter to prove that Mrs Hiller was a confirmed morphine taker and was addicted to the use of liquor.

MISS SOUTHGATE IS BELIEVED.

She Must Testify at the Inquest When Well Enough—No Reason for Probing the Case Further.

NEW YORK, Sept 17—Helen Forbes Southgate's version of the death of Henry Gravesmer Barbour in the St Charles hotel, Brooklyn, will be accepted by the police and coroner as the correct one. The mortality of the inquest when the girl is able to leave the hospital are given her testimony will disclose the official record of the tragedy.

After a consultation with a member of the district attorney's staff, Capt Dana stated that there was sufficient evidence to arrest the girl, but after reaching his office this morning he decided to reverse himself.

"I will not go on with the case," he said. "I can see no reason for pushing it further. We believe the girl's story and the young man shot and then killed himself. It is now up to the coroner."

Deputy coroner Kelly said: "Nothing will be done in the case until Miss Southgate is able to testify. Her story will be accepted. I can see no reason to doubt it. Her possible responsibility for the young man's death will not be probed.

"The inquest will be into the facts of the death of Barbour. The coroner's jury will have to be accepted, unless some one can show that there was undue influence brought to bear upon the witnesses, which is not the case, as far as I can see."

Three Speeches Made by Bryan Before Breakfast.

He is Making Tour Through Missouri.

Addresses at Aurora, Monett, Carthage, Springfield.

Reply to Republican Claim of Prosperity.

"Why Should Any Man Send His Money to Europe?"

CARTHAGE, Mo, Sept 17—William J. Bryan began his day's work at Springfield, Mo, at 4 o'clock, and made three speeches before breakfast. The second was at Aurora, and the third at Monett. It was barely daylight when Springfield the reception. Notwithstanding there was a large crowd awaiting the arrival of the train, the time was so limited that when Mr Bryan came into view. He did not speak to exceed five minutes at either Springfield or Aurora, but at Monett he left the car and addressed the people from the platform for a considerable time. His talks were along general lines, referring principally to the issues and to imperialism, and suggesting questions to be put to republican opponents.

At Monett he referred to the disposition to get as many speeches as possible out of him, saying:

"I have been making speeches a day, but I find it difficult to refuse the invitations that are cordially extended to me to fill myself. I would speak longer were it absolutely required, but I understand I am still in Missouri, and it is not necessary to speak very long here. I have noticed that in every state in which that we have reached a point where we can loan money to people in other countries, I want to ask you whether you regard that as an evidence of prosperity. Why should we not send all the money to Europe for investment if he would find a place in this country to invest it? Money went abroad for investment when it was hard to get it back, and now—either because it can be used to better advantage in a European country, or because it is not safe to invest at home—it is invested by foreign capitalists in this country. Mr Bryan was also greeted by large crowds at Pierce City and Sarcoxie, and spoke briefly at each place.

At Carthage, Mr Bryan was met by a large crowd, and was introduced as the next president of the United States.

A speech was also made at Joplin.

125,000 MEN QUIT WORK.

Colossal Tieup in the Great Coal Region.

Twelve Mining Towns in One Section Stand Still.

Ten Others Where Collieries Are Being Operated With Reduced Force—Samuel Gompers Predicts Victory for the Workers, but Pres Olyphant Does Not Believe the Strike Can Last.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn, Sept 17—Reports from the anthracite coal fields of this state indicate that the tieup caused by the strike for higher wages of more than 140,000 mine workers, is at least as complete as the leaders of the United mine workers of America claimed at any time.

Companies and individuals owning about 125,000 acres of land that they workings would operate as usual, despite the strike order, apparently reckoned without accurate knowledge of the attitude of their men. It is true that some operations in the Hazleton region were running this morning with a handful of men, and a few mines in the Lehigh region, unless the greater number of men in the district were idle.

In the Scranton and Wilkesbarre districts the tie-up was practically complete. As was expected, the Schuylkill region, with Pottsville for a central point, was the scene of the most effective tieup. This territory is strongly organized.

On the north side, which takes in 10 towns, not well organized, the results of the strike order were somewhat reverse. In that territory nearly every colliery started up, but only one was able to muster its full complement of men.

The strikers from McAdoo are trying hard to get the men at Coleraine to join them, and will make a strong effort before starting time this morning for that purpose. There was some hesitation on the part of a lot of the Coleraine men, but when the whistle blew at 7 o'clock this morning not a man went into the collieries at that place, all working short-handed, however. Several of the collieries, after starting work, had to suspend because of the lack of men.

TWELVE MINING TOWNS IN IDLENESS

Condition in the South Side Surrounding Hazleton, but in the 10 Northern Towns it is the Reverse.

HAZLETON, Penn, Sept 17—The great anthracite strike was begun today throughout the entire hard coal region of Pennsylvania.

The launching of the strike in this district was attended by varying success. With the exception of Tours Creek, the entire south side mining territory known as the fourth site, including 12 mining towns, is completely tied up. This territory is strongly organized.

On the north side, which takes in 10 towns, not well organized, the results of the strike order were somewhat reverse. In that territory nearly every colliery started up, but only one was able to muster its full complement of men.

The strikers from McAdoo are trying hard to get the men at Coleraine to join them, and will make a strong effort before starting time this morning for that purpose.
